

Bioflow

Professional therapists use electromagnetic generators to aid healing by producing pulsed field that is biocompatible. These are not portable, and can only be used for short periods. The Central Reverse Polarity magnet module used by Bioflow is unique and patented, it produces a field that has a similar effect to a pulsed field without emitting an electromagnetic resonance. As blood passes through the CRP field the molecules in the blood are subjected to a triple spin at a frequency that is biocompatible, helping to increase the efficiency of the molecules and therefore the cells.

All Bioflow products are manufactured by Ecoflow plc using the highest quality neodymium material charged to our specification, ensuring that the products properties are preserved and operate under all expected environments. Bioflow products are the result of extensive development; they are not, just another magnet of the type used by many products appearing on the market as a result of the increased popularity of Magnotherapy.

It is the company's understanding of magnet technology combined with a commitment to development that has positioned Ecoflow as the leading manufacturer of Magnotherapy products.
