

Bioflow for People

The Bioflow for people range has grown over the years to cater for most shapes, sizes, preferences and conditions. It is registered as a Class 1 medical device in the UK. The most popular are the products worn around the wrist where the field can reach all cells passing through it; it is therefore unnecessary in most cases to use more than one product. The lower budget range of Bioflow products use a single CRP module whereas the upper ranges incorporate a relay magnet to provide a deeper field. All wristband models are ideal for both maintenance and helping specific complaints. The Boost, and Boost Buttons are designed for use on any part of the body where a concentrated field is required to target pain in a selected area. The Biopad has six deep penetration CRP modules and is versatile enough for use at home, work, whilst driving or even in your pet's basket !
